Struck by the depth of God's love, how can we do anything but bow down to him in worship and show that same mercy to the people around us? Mercy is not just an abstract idea or a nice theory. It's a concrete reality.

It's not just a message that we can choose to live out when it's convenient for us. God's mercy for us is meant to be at the heart of how we think and act toward each other. It's meant to be the characteristic that sets us apart in a world caught up in self-righteousness, division, and unforgiveness. It's the best way we can reveal God's love and invite people to taste it themselves. Peter asked Jesus, "How often must I forgive?" He was looking for a solid number of times, after which he was off the hook. He was asking about the rules. But for the one who has grasped the depths of God's mercy, rules and limits no longer matter. May we all taste this mercy more deeply today so that we can become more merciful as well.

"Thank you, Jesus, for showering me with your love, Lord, help me to be more merciful."

Hurricanes Harvey & Irma Evacuees Coming To Indiana: HELP IS NEEDED Catholic Charities Disaster Response, Archdiocese of Indianapolis, has been asked by the Indiana Department of Homeland Security to assist in preparation to receive evacuees from both Hurricane Harvey and Hurricane Irma in the coming weeks and months. We have been asked to head up Disaster Case Management to insure that the needs of these individuals and families are met here in Indiana. The evacuees would come into the Indianapolis area. Therefore, Disaster Case Managers who could be available to volunteer for this task need to be trained here. Training will be held at the O'Meara Catholic Center, 1400 N. Meridian Street, in the Benedictine Conference Room on Oct. 4th from 9a.m- 4p.m. Lunch will be provided. If you can help, please contact Jane Crady, Disaster Preparedness & Response Coordinator, Catholic Charities Archdiocese of Indianapolis jacc1@tds.net , 317-642-7322
